1. What Are Cookies?

Cookies are small text files that are placed on your device when you visit a website. They help the website remember your actions and preferences over time. We also use similar tracking technologies such as pixel tags and tracking scripts to optimize user experience.

2. Why We Use Cookies

We use cookies to achieve the following performance, support, and analytical objectives:

3. Types of Cookies We Use

Essential Cookies

Strictly Necessary

These cookies are required for the website to function correctly (e.g., handling security, maintaining active login sessions, and recording cookie consent preferences). They cannot be disabled through our system configuration.

Analytics & Performance Cookies

Traffic & Metrics

We use Google Analytics 4, which automatically anonymises IP addresses by default, and Jetpack Stats to analyse website traffic, visitor behaviour, and site performance. These tools may collect approximate location data limited strictly to country, region, or city levels.

We ensure that appropriate regulatory safeguards are in place through an active Data Processing Addendum executed with Automattic (the operators of WordPress.com and Jetpack).
